This programme was introduced for final year semester student. Due to corona lockdown time programme was made in virtual mode. Shreya Basu mostly discussed about overview of Geology and its new application in academic arena. Student's have been satisfied with this interaction.

The lecture was very much interesting to the student because Geology more or less related to the Geography and it is very interesting to the student to relate Geology with Geography. This is the first time we prepared this type of program in online mode and it was very challenging to us to arrange successfully the program because in the first time of digital mode many students not familiar to the digital platform. By our guidance the students joint that program successful and gained many interesting information from the lecture
